

Hiring and Recruitment Trends

Fifty percent of human resource managers say they currently have open positions for which they cannot find qualified candidates. However, there are candidates ready to take on those roles. Across all skill levels, 32 percent of workers are looking to change jobs in 2019. National surveys conducted by The Harris Poll on behalf of CareerBuilder revealed these staffing insights.

Convenience and culture may be more important than compensation. Employees cite location, affordable benefit plans, job stability, a good boss, and good work culture as more important than salary when considering a position.

Willing to Train

MOST SOUGHT-AFTER SOFT SKILLS

Source: <https://bit.ly/2VZoiJl>

Is your workforce expanding, in need of staff support for vacations or seasonal help? SEEK specializes in recruitment and placement of office, accounting, professional, hospitality, general labor, light industrial and skilled manufacturing positions. Temporary, temp-to-hire, direct hire, and payrolling options are available.

How can we Service Your Success?
Contact SEEK today!